Lobby

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra - Bruges - Hotel Lobby - Empire style decoration

More than 400 Years of History!

The hotel lobby dates from the year 1600 and is indeed the oldest part of the hotel building. It was originally built by Don Juan de Peralta, the Consul of the County of Navarra in Spain, as his official residence during the Spanish occupation of the Flanders region.

Between 1795 and 1802, under French rule, the interior was entirely redecorated in Empire style. The present triumphal staircase was especially built for an official visit by Emperor Napoleon I to Bruges, when he was supposed to stay at the hotel. However, in the end Napoleon did not spend the night in Bruges.

Today our Front Desk is actually situated in the lobby and welcomes many guests from all over!

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra - Bruges - Indoor Pool

Indoor pool nicely integrated in the former old wine cellars!

Many guests ask us how we succeeded in integrating a pool inside the old wine cellars. Well, we can assure you that it was not an easy job! But today we are proud of the result. By the way, very few hotels in Bruges have a pool! But this one is special, because of its unique location and very intriguing atmosphere! You'll love it. The indoor heated pool is part of our wellness centre, which also offers a sauna and a fitness room.

On-site car park

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra has its own private car park at the disposal of its guests. The hotel car park has a capacity of approximately 30 cars. The majority of our guests travel by other means of transport (by train, ferry and/or air) and normally arrive by taxi or public transport.

Indoor public car park

If our own car park is full upon arrival, alternatively you can park your vehicle at the 'Biekorf' underground car park further down the street (just 50 metres away from the hotel).

Parking in the inner city

Bruges is a city with a medieval street pattern. Most attractions are within walking distance from the hotel. To safeguard the attractiveness and the accessibility of the historic city centre, on-street parking is limited to 4 hours in the blue zone and to 2 hours in the metered parking areas. The easiest and safest way to park is to leave your vehicle on our private car park or in the underground car park "De Biekorf".

The History of Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra - Bruges - The History - The Consul of Navarra

1600-1715 Don Juan de Peralta (b June 22, 1549), Consul of the Spanish Province of Navarra as well as Alderman of Bruges, built his official residence on the site of the present hotel. He lies buried next to his wife Maria Lauwers, in the adjoining St Jakobschurch, behind the main altar, under a white slab. They had three children: Jean, Anne and Marie. Marie continued to reside at the hotel and married Jean Pardo, the Mayor of Bruges. Their youngest daughter Alexandrine married Charles-Francois-Louis de Schoote, Lord of Marckhove, Alderman of Finances in Bruges and member of the States General of Flanders. Consequently the building came into the possession of the Van Marckhove family.

1715 The premises were bought by 'de Gilde der Makelaars' (the State Agents' Guild), and became its headquarters.

1720 The name was changed into 'Hotel des Courtiers', and the premises were completely rebuilt in the style of Louis XV. The name was changed once more into 'Cour de Commerce', under the rule of Maria-Theresia of Austria.

1781 Emperor Jozef II of Austria stayed at the hotel from June 13 till June 15 during an official visit to Bruges, when he participated in the Blessed Sacrament Procession, carrying a flaming torch. On August 29 Duke Albert Casimir, Governor-General of the United Netherlands and his wife the Duchess Marie-Augustine of Austria, were also guests at the hotel.

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra - Bruges- The History - Napoleon

1795-1802 After the battle of Fleurus, the 'Cour de Commerce', now under French rule, was sold and transformed into the 'Tribunal de Commerce'. Only part of the building was used for this purpose however. The remainder was used to house the 'Hotel du Commerce', as well as a 'Cour de Commerce' (Commercial Court). The present triumphal staircase and the beautiful Bonaparte halls were especially built for an official visit by Emperor Napoleon I to Bruges when he was supposed to stay at the hotel. However, in the end Napoleon did not spend the night in Bruges. The halls in the hotel were regularly used for important meetings during the reign of William of Orange.

1802 The Vanden Berghe-Dumortier family became the new owners of the hotel and ran it for a full one hundred and eighteen years as a first class hotel.

1842-1914 'The Commercial Court' moved to the Palace of Justice and the 16th-century house in the inner courtyard was supplemented with a 19th-century moulded façade. The masterly wrought-iron entrance gate also dates from this period. From this time onwards, the premises were used only as a hotel and bore the name of 'Grand Hotel du Commerce'. The hotel had about 60 rooms and was especially popular amongst British visitors, who later on were also able to bruges_best_western_premier_hotel_navarra_en.txt

enjoy the comforts of electric lighting, central heating, a beautiful garden, car park, and a private shuttle service to and from the station. All this was quite unique for that time ! Many famous guests, including the poet Longfellow who is well-known for his poem entitled 'The Belfry of Bruges', stayed at the hotel.

1914-1918 During the first weeks of 'World War I', the owner placed his hotel at the disposal of 'the Red Cross'. After this, it was taken over by officers of the German Army. After the Armistice, the Grand Hotel was temporarily used as the Official Headquarters of the Belgian Government from October 31 till November 21, 1918, following their return from exile.

1920-1950 The hotel was sold to the Pauwels-D'Hondt family. In 1924 the oldest part of the building dating from 1600 was raised with a mansard roof.

1950-1981 The hotel was sold to the City of Bruges, to be used as a residence for students of the newly founded 'Europacollege'.

1981 The premises were in a pitiful state and in view of high renovation costs, the City decided to sell it to Michel Maertens, to be transformed once again into a hotel.

1982 Hotel Navarra opened its doors on the January 01 as a four-star hotel with 64 rooms. Through the acquisition of adjacent premises, the hotel became one of the most famous hotels, situated in the historic city centre of Bruges with 87 rooms.

1996 Hotel Navarra was officially declared a Historic Monument.

2000 The premises have been in existence for precisely 400 years and after years of restoration have once again been restored to their former magnificence.

2002 The year in which Bruges is 'Cultural Capital of Europe', together with the Spanish city of Salamanca. During that year, Hotel Navarra celebrated its 20th anniversary.

2005 Through the acquisition of adjacent premises, the hotel has now 94 rooms.

Bruges. The ground floor is the location for a varied programme of visual arts exhibitions (associated with the Groeninge collection)

- * Memling Museum (Mariastraat 38)

This recently restored museum is housed in one of the oldest surviving medieval hospitals in Europe (12th-17th century). Everyday life at the hospital is reconstructed in the magnificent historic wards by a collection of paintings, sculptures, furniture and decorative art. The adjacent church is the hospital's undisputed treasure-room, containing as it does several brilliant 15th-

* Gothic Hall - City Hall (Burg Square)

The Gothic Hall on the first floor of Bruges City Hall is open to the public. This former council chamber continues to play an important part in city life. The wooden, polychrome, vaulted ceiling is decorated with a profusion of late medieval carvings. The murals, illustrating Bruges' glorious past, were added during the chamber's restoration in the late 19th century. The adjoining 'historical chamber' contains several objects, documents and works of art with a bearing on the city's past.

* Liberty of Bruges (Brugse Vrije, Burg 11a)

The Bruges countryside was originally governed from here, then this stately home acted as a Courthouse. Today the oldest wing (16th century) contains the city archive and in the Renaissance

Room you can admire the monumental mantelpiece.

* Belfry (Markt 7)

The medieval Belfry Tower (13th-15th century) is 83 metres tall (approx. 289 feet) and houses the former city treasury, in which Bruges' valuables (money and royal charters) were once kept. A climb of 366 steps will take you to the impressive clock mechanism. Once you've reached the carillon with its 47 bells, you can enjoy a breathtaking panoramic view of the city and its surroundings.

* Archeological Museum (Mariastraat 36a)

This museum contains a wide variety of material witnesses to Bruges' past, discovered during excavations in the city centre and in the outskirts. Pottery, glass, leather and crypts illustrate the city's history from the Stone Age to the Middle Ages and beyond.

* Folklore Museum (Balstraat 43)

The restored and picturesque 17th century almshouses, which used to belong to the cobblers' guild, evoke the atmosphere of the past. Historic objects are used to reconstruct a classroom, a cobbler's workshop and a chemist, a confectionery, etc. You can round off your tour at the museum inn, 'The Black Cat'.

* Museum of Our Lady of the Potterie (Potterierei 79)

This museum is located in a historical hospital complex (14th-17th century). Its numerous paintings and sculptures alone are worth a visit, but the museum also contains furniture from the Gothic to Baroque era. The adjoining church can boast one of the city's best

bruges_best_western_premier_hotel_navarra_en.txt

preserved Baroque interiors and houses a wealth of art treasures.

* Sint-Janshuismolen / Koelweimolen (windmills) (Krui svest)

Ever since their completion in the 13th century and until the 19th century, Bruges' outer ramparts were dotted with windmills. Nowadays, 2 windmills dominate the 'Krui svest'. The St.

Janshuismolen, which dates from 1770, is the only mill that has remained in its original position. Both windmills are still operational and are used to grind flour.

* Guido Gezelle Museum (Rolweg 64)

The literary and biographical museum of Guido Gezelle (1830-1899), one of Flanders' best-known poets, is located in the house in which the writer was born. The museum has been completely cultivation, harvesting, peeling, sorting and frying of potatoes. The museum will, however, also focus on Belgian fries in art, in music and on film. After the museum tour, the visitors will be able to taste the real Belgian fries, with delicious sauces and all sorts of meat preparations, in the medieval basement.

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra - Bruges - Brugse Zot Beer

Additional Places of Interest ...

Bruges is renowned for its very rich cultural heritage, its world-class museums, fascinating events, a cosy pleasant overall atmosphere and for its shopping and dining facilities, but also offers some surprising additional attractions, such as:

* The Brewery 'De Halve Maan' (Walplein 26)

This brewery, already mentioned in 1546, produces the 'Brugse Zot' and the 'Straffe Hendrik' beer that you can try here. During one of the guided visits you will learn more about production methods and the history of the brewery.

* St. Sebastian's Archers' Guild (Carmenstraat 174)

The members of this ancient and honourable long-bow archers' guild treasure valuable paintings, important archives and reminders of the membership of Belgian and British monarchs.

* St. George's Archers Guild (Stijn Streuvelsstraat 59)

The crossbow archers of St. George's preserve valuable archives as well as a unique collection of crossbows.

* Almshouses

Almshouses are old houses which were built by the guilds for their members and their widows or as a deed of charity by wealthy burghers for the poor and the elderly. The oldest houses date from the 14th century. They are very often built around a communal garden with a small chapel and a well. The most remarkable examples are: Almshouse 'De Vos' (Noordstraat), 'De Pelikaan' (Groene Rei), 'Zorghe' and 'Schipper's' (Stijn Streuvelsstraat), 'the Rooms Couvent' (Katelijnestraat), 'De Meulenaere' and 'Sint-Jozef' (Nieuwe Gentweg). These institutions have been owned by the city since the French revolution. Most complexes have been restored and modernised and are still inhabited by elderly people. Most of the inner gardens are open to the public.

* Boudewijn 'Seapark' & 'Dolfinarium'

Themepark, situated just outside Bruges, including a dolfinarium.

music hall with 300 seats. In the actual concert building the large auditorium seats 1300. Top quality attractions in the area of classical music, jazz, musical theatre, visual arts, ... take place

Brugse Ommeland

The area around Bruges - the so-called 'Brugse Ommeland' - is a region best described in glowing superlatives. Rows of age-old, bent over poplars cut across 'le plat pays' (the flat country):

Antwerp

The Diamond Center of the World... only one hour away from Bruges!

Antwerp is the second largest city in Belgium, with 500.000 inhabitants (Bruges - 120.000 inhabitants). This city has so many different facets, that it takes a while before one gets to know it thoroughly.

Moreover, Antwerp is really a splendid city with numerous architectural highlights, most of which date from the 16th- (the Golden Era) and the 17th-century. The past is also represented by the numerous paintings of P.P. Rubens, who lived in Antwerp in the early 17th century.

Antwerp, the diamond center of the world! If diamonds really are a girl's best friend, than many ladies will not leave out a visit to the diamond district, situated near the Railway Station.

However Antwerp does not only live from the past. Nowadays, Antwerp has earned a place among the fashion cities of the world, thanks to the efforts of numerous young fashion designers, such as Dries Van Noten, Walter Van Beirendonck, Dirk Bikkembergs, Kaat Tilley and many others. Visit the fashion area around the major shopping street, called 'the Meir'.

Some highlights of Antwerp

- * The Rubens Museum

Brussels

The Capital of Europe ... only one hour away from Bruges!

Brussels ... Capital of both Belgium and Europe, is a cosmopolitan city where many different cultures live together and where different languages can be heard! It is also the home of the European Commission and the Council of Ministers of the European Union (EU). This liveliness and international flair is intimately related to its role as a crossroad for all of Europe.

The city is more than 1000 years old. You will also experience a variety and contrast of different architectural styles when you visit Brussels. Gothic-style cathedrals and churches are next to and sometimes in strong contrast with gracious classical facades like the buildings around the Royal Square or beautiful Art Nouveau and Art Deco houses.

The real heart of Brussels and the place to start from is of course the Grand' Place. This historic market square with its splendid guild houses and the impressive Gothic beauty of the City Hall, is widely considered to be one of the most beautiful city squares in Europe.

Some highlights of Brussels:

- * The Grand' Place
- * The Sablon Square with its antique shops

Ghent

Less known, but worth a daytrip... only 30 minutes away from Bruges!

The city of Ghent, just like Bruges, has also managed to preserve its medieval power, while keeping up with the times. The city center alone is a showcase of medieval Flemish wealth. But the contemporary side of Ghent can also not be overlooked. It is a very trendy city with a lot to see and a lot to do! You will not have eyes enough to admire the awesome architectural wealth, which offers a splendid combination of impressiveness and idyllic charm of the proud and (in former times) often rebellious city of Ghent.

Effective Meetings - Tips

The following are some tips to help you make your next meeting successful, effective and maybe even fun.

Before The Meeting

* Define the purpose of the meeting

* Budgeting

* Site inspection visit

* Travel arrangements

* Reservations and registration

* Speakers

* Audiovisual equipment

* Food & Beverage arrangements

* Payment procedure

* Develop an agenda in cooperation with key participants

* Distribute the agenda and circulate background material, lengthy documents or articles prior to the meeting so members will be prepared and feel involved and up-to-date

* Choose an appropriate meeting time. Set a time limit and stick to it, if possible. Remember, members have other commitments. They will be more likely to attend meetings if you make them productive, predictable and as short as possible

* If possible, arrange the meeting room so that members face each other, i.e., a circle or semi-circle. For large groups, try U-shaped rows

* Boardrooms

* Use visual aids for interest (e.g., posters, diagrams, etc.). Post a large agenda up front to which members can refer

* Social activities

During The Meeting

* Greet members and make them feel welcome, even late members when appropriate

* If possible, serve light refreshments, they are good icebreakers and make your members feel special and comfortable

* Start on time. End on time

* Review the agenda and set priorities for the meeting

* Stick to the agenda

Group Rates 2009

Best Western Premier Hotel Navarra - Bruges - Group Rates

Ask for our daily rates - from € 127.00 / double or twin room / including breakfast

Our dynamic group rates may vary from day to day, depending on the following criteria:

* Weekend or midweek stays

Generally speaking, weekend rates in Bruges tend to be more expensive than those during the midweek. So why not consider planning your group's departure during the midweek? It can be a lot cheaper for you!

* Low, mid or high season dates

Please bear in mind that the months April, May, September, October and December are high season for groups travel. Our hotel is offering very attractive and competitive group rates in some low and mid season periods such as the months of January, February, March, July, August and November.

* Occupancy rate at the time of your reservation request

This criterium is key for defining the exact daily group rate. So the earlier you book with us, the more interesting your group rate with us will be. We can 100% guarantee that if nevertheless you consider making your reservation at a later date, you will never get a lower group rate.

* Certainly do not hesitate to contact our Groups Department to check availability and rates.
